- Documents Returned for Correction

- Documents Returned for Correction

Following a review of Companies House internal procedures the following changes will be implemented with effect from 1st April 2013.

If a document is submitted to Companies House (in time) and stamped as delivered, but is subsequently returned to the firm or person who filed the document due to the fact that it contains a mistake, Companies House will accept a corrected version of the document if the document is returned within three months of the receipt date. The document can be resubmitted up to three times if it has recurrent errors, but all corrections must be done and submitted within the three months of the receipt date, when the original document was first filed.
