

GUIDANCE NOTE 20

Re-domiciliation of Companies into and out of Gibraltar

Difference Between a Foreign Company Doing Business in Gibraltar and a Re-domiciled Company

- A Foreign Company doing business in Gibraltar and registered under Part XII of the Companies Act, will always remain a foreign company.
- A re-domiciled Company under Part XIII, once it is registered in Gibraltar, becomes a Gibraltar Company.

The meaning of a company's Domicile

The concept of domicile under Gibraltar law is not described in statute, but comes from case law, and is analogous to how the domicile of an individual is decided. Whereas a corporation cannot eat or sleep, it can keep house and do real business. A company's domicile is where it keeps house and does real business. In De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited v Howe [1906] AC455, Lord Lorebon said: 'A company resides ... where its real business is carried on ... and the real business is carried on where the central management and control actually abides'. The place of formation and domicile usually coincide but do not always do so as shown by the cases referred to above, and see also Daimler Co. Limited v Continental Tyre and Rubber Co. (Great Britain) Limited [1916] 2 AC 307.

How a Foreign Company may establish a domicile in Gibraltar

Its important to note that there is reciprocity in the law when establishing a domicile into Gibraltar as there is when establishing a domicile abroad

Name of Company

The name of the re-domiciled company must comply with the requirements of the Companies Act. The provisions of section 27 of the Companies Act shall apply in respect of the name in which a company may be registered under the Regulations.

Requirement for registered Office

A company applying to re-domicile into Gibraltar must have in Gibraltar a registered office in accordance with the Companies Act.

Certificate of domicile granted by the Registrar

Once the Registrar is satisfied that all of the requirements of regulations 2 and 3 of the Regulations have been met and that the company has given notice of its intention to establish a domicile in Gibraltar to the authority of its origin, the Registrar will retain all the filed documents and certify that the company has established its domicile in Gibraltar.

The certificate of registration issued by the Registrar in accordance with regulation 4 (1) of the Regulations shall be conclusive evidence that all of the requirements of the Act and the Regulations in respect of that registration have been complied with and that the company is a company authorised to be so registered and has been duly registered.

The Registrar shall publish in the 7th Supplement of the Gibraltar Gazette a notice that he has issued the certificate referred to in regulation 4 (1), stating the name and registered address of the company and the state from which it has re-domiciled.

Effect of establishing a domicile in Gibraltar

With effect from the date of the issue of a certificate of registration, the company is a body corporate registered and deemed to be incorporated in Gibraltar under the Companies Act, and is a company incorporated in Gibraltar for purposes of any other Act.

Its memorandum and articles of association (or other instrument constituting or defining the constitution of the company), as amended by the articles establishing domicile in Gibraltar, are deemed to be the memorandum and articles of the company.

The company's property and its business continues to be vested in the company. The company also continues to be liable for all of its claims, debts, liabilities and obligations. No previous proceedings, order, liability or obligation against the company or any of its officers or members are in any way diminished or released because of the company's re-domiciliation.

Mortgages or other liabilities of Companies that re-domicile to Gibraltar

Regulation 5 (2) (a) states that where a company is issued with a certificate of registration under regulation 4-no conviction, judgment, ruling, order, debt, liability or obligation due or to become due and no cause existing against the company or against any member, director, officer or agent thereof is thereby released or impaired.

Under section 168 (8) of the Companies Act, a company that has a charge that was created before the company was re-domiciled to Gibraltar has a period of 30 days from the day following its registration in Gibraltar to register the charge.

Effect in the jurisdiction of the original domicile

It is important to note that the Regulations require the company to satisfy the Registrar that it has ceased to be a company domiciled in the country of its incorporation or in which it was previously domiciled. It may continue to exist under the jurisdiction of its incorporation, but must give up its previous domicile. A company can only have one domicile.

Cessation of original domicile

Once the Registrar has issued a certificate of registration in accordance with regulation 4, the company has 6 months to notify the Registrar that it has ceased to be a company domiciled in the jurisdiction under which it was incorporated by filing a notice of cessation (please refer to Form 442D). If the company fails to do so, the Registrar will strike off the company pursuant to Regulation 5(3)(a) of the Regulations, and inform the authority where the company was originally incorporated that the company is not registered in Gibraltar.

Name of Company

Although the provisions of section 27 of the Companies Act in relation to company names applies to a company during the period that it is not domiciled in Gibraltar, the Registrar's records shall show the name under which such company is domiciled in a relevant State.

Publication in the Gibraltar Gazette

Upon receiving an application by a company to re-domicile out of Gibraltar, the Registrar shall publish a notice of the application including details of the company and the state to which it is seeking to re-domicile in the Gazette.

Consent of the Registrar to establish a domicile abroad

Once a minimum of 30 days have passed from publication in the Gazette of the details of a company's application to re-domicile, the Registrar shall, if he is satisfied that all requirements have been met, issue a certificate stating that the company is permitted to establish domicile in the State specified in the application.

The Registrar keeps a record of the companies to which certificates have been issued under the Regulations.

Timing

A certificate issued under sub-regulation 8 (1) shall be valid until such time as the Registrar shall have been served with notice to his satisfaction of the registration of the domicile of the company in the relevant State, or, upon the expiration of three months from the date of its issue, whichever is the earliest date.

Notification of the Registration of the domicile of the company in the relevant State

A company registered under the Companies Act to which a certificate has been issued in accordance with regulation 8(1) must within three months from the date of issue of the certificate of consent notify the Registrar of the Registration of the domicile of the company in the relevant State (Form 442 E).

Notification of the Registration of the domicile of the company in the relevant State under sub-regulation 10 (1) shall be accompanied by:-

- 1) an instrument of continuation certified by the proper officer of the jurisdiction of re-domiciliation that the company is continued under the laws of that jurisdiction, and
- (2) the prescribed fee of £35.00.

Where the Registrar is satisfied that the relevant provisions of this Part are satisfied he shall issue a certificate of cessation pursuant to regulation 10 (1) of the Companies (Re-domiciliation) Regulations 1996 (as amended). With effect from the date of the issue of the Certificate the company will no longer be registered under the Act.

Continuance of re-domiciled Company

The re-domiciliation of a company does not create a new legal entity. The company continues in existence and its property is unaffected. It also continues to be liable for all of its claims, debts, liabilities and obligations. Existing convictions, judgments or orders against the company are unaffected as are any legal proceedings. Once the Registrar has issued a certificate that the company is permitted to establish a domicile in a relevant state, the company's memorandum and articles of association, as amended by the resolution that establishes domicile in the relevant State, are the memorandum and articles of the company.

Name of the company at the new domicile

The Registrar keeps an index of Gibraltar companies domiciled abroad and records in the index the name under which the company is known in the relevant state in which it has established a domicile.

Duty of the company in Gibraltar during the period it maintains a domicile abroad if it has NOT requested that its registration in Gibraltar be cancelled
